

Criteria 2- Teaching- Learning and Evaluation 2023-24

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process :

2.3.1. Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences:

- The faculty members employ a diverse range of teaching-learning methods to ensure an engaging and effective educational experience.
These methods include
  - Lecture Method,
  - Interactive Method,
  - Project-Based Learning,
  - Computer-Assisted Learning, and
  - Experiential Learning, among others.
  - To enhance the learning process, teaching activities are enriched with visual aids, illustrations, and special lectures.
- PowerPoint presentations are frequently utilized to make lessons more captivating, complementing traditional oral teaching methods. Innovative approaches such as
  - ❖ Industrial Visits,
  - ❖ Field Trips,
  - ❖ Internship Programs, and
  - ❖ hands-on projects further provide students with real-world exposure and practical knowledge.
- Additionally, ICT-enabled learning tools play a pivotal role in delivering dynamic and interactive content, while experiential and experimental learning methods foster critical thinking and problem-solving skills. These multifaceted strategies ensure a holistic and immersive teaching-learning environment that caters to diverse learner needs.

ICT in Language Classroom

Apart from Teaching/Lecture method, the Department of English expose the students to ICT very often in the digital classrooms.

The faculty of English prepare power points presentation to the most of the topics in the syllabus well in advance i.e even before the commencement of the semester. Soon after completing the lesson in lecture method, the topic will be repeated through ICT.

Generally students show great enthusiasm to participate in ICT learning. This method not only enhances the interest in learning but also helps them a lot in understanding the concept thoroughly.
